- Known unavailability should be accounted for prior to invoicing at the start of the half term.
- In the event of unforeseen cancellation (including through illness) a minimum of 24 hours notice should be given.
- One lesson per block booking may be transferred to the following half term or a mutually convenient date within the current half term, provided the correct notice is given. No more than one lesson per block booking can be transferred.

- In the event of unforeseen cancellation (including through illness) a minimum of 24 hours notice should be given. Under this circumstance, the lesson can be transferred to another mutually convenient date.
